Until recently the Canadian government has seemed to assume that how evaded, that Britain would not join the Six of Europe, that we could go along as we have been going, that something good would turn up and therefore that Canada need do nothing in particular.

All those assumptions collapsed with Mr. Macmillan's speech a few days ago at Boston. He announced that Britain would negotiate a trading agreement with the Euro-pean Common Market and proclaimed his government's ultimate goal as "free trade for a free world." At that moment the Canadian government confronted an ennew situation which it should have expected months ago. The simple fact is that Britain must come to terms with the European Common Market because it is now the largest trading area of the world, absolutely essential to Brit-ish exporters. It is also essential to the exporters of Canada, those of British Columbia among them.

For economic, political and military reasons, it is essential to the United States. It should be understood at once, as this great debate gets under way, that neither Mr. Pearson nor any other responsible statesman is proposing "free trade" and the abolition of all tariffs overnight. As in Europe, the process must be gradual and phased over a fairly long period, during which industry can accommodate itself to change.

Something of a Revolution

CHANCELLOR SELWYN LLOYD cannot really argue that his tax con-cessions to the rich will have no effect on the actual amount of money spent this year. He has to impose a number of extra taxes—on fuel oil, on motor car licences and on television advertisements—because he wants to restrain the growth of demand which, he says, is tending to drive up prices. The likely tending to drive up prices. The likely change in the spending habits of the surfaxpayers in 1961 cannot surely be

Their dividends are to be cut, assuming that they do respond to the higher lax on profits in this way, while heir senior management will obtain a very big increase in their incomes, as a result of the cut in taxes, without costing the companies a nearly more companies a penny more.

The operation can be portrayed as a simple transfer of money from the inactive owners of capital, in the guise of company shareholders, to the active and hitherto overtaxed senior executives who determine whether these tives, who determine whether these companies are successful or not.

In all probability matters will not work out quite so neatly and painlessly as this. That is because the accountant's world and the real world are after all very different things.

Companies are very reluctant to cut dividends and face the inevitable storm of protest at the annual shoreholders' meeting. They may decide to put away less of their profits to reserves or they may reduce their investment expenditure or, alternatively, they may, if they think they have a chance, try to raise their prices and compensate themselves for heavier taxes in this way.

What is clear is that a cut in the actual spending of companies during the current financial year sufficient to balance the probable rise in spending by the lucky surtax payers, whose tax liability has been drastically reduced, is very problematical. Worse still, if it did occur, the cut in company spending might be at the expense of industrial investment.

Nevertheless, the purely accounting ingenuity of the budget should not be underrated. Mr. Lloyd has brought off underrated. Mr. Lloyd has brought on something like a revolution—his op-ponents would say a counter-revolution— which at one stroke releases 70 per cent of all the people in Britain paying surtax from this liability. That is a quarter of a million people.

Surtax will henceforth be something thich exclusively affects the very rich those with incomes of over £5,000 a

Will the government be able to put through a social change which is quite as profound as this without incurring a great deal of unpopularity? On the face of it, Mr. Lloyd's chances of doing so just after the government has im-posed additional taxes to the tune of £60 million on the ordinary working man in order to pay for the rise in the cost of the health service, might seem pretty

Excessively Onerous

However, there has been widespread feeling for some time that the tax burden on the prosperous, but by no means rich, young manager in the £2,000 to £3,000 a year class was excessively

It was also giving rise to all sorts of tax dodges by which people obtained income in kind or lived on expense

If Mr. Lloyd can put over the idea If Mr. Lloyd can put over the idea that this concession, which is confined exclusively to the earned income of the successful members of society, will be accompanied by a tightening up of tax discipline generally, the reform may not produce an intense resentment. Much depends on how the Labor Opposi-tion conducts itself. The government now presents a wide-open target vulnerable to rational attack on traditional ng egalitarian principles. (London Observer Service)

In addition, the right to defend one's nationals carries with it three related rights: the right to strengthen one's military forces which have the duty to defend themselves against attack, the right to maintain lines of supply which would keep these forces steadily reinforced, and the right to appoint local officials to maintain law and order.

Under the last point there would be ample room for the United States to appoint anti-Castro Cubans to positions of power and thus establish a government which it could recognize.

This possibility is now under active study by the Kennedy administration. There is however one great argument against it. Intervention by the United

Will Pro Soccer Succeed Where Baseball Failed?

MONTREAL (UPI) - Soc-MONTREAL (UFI) — Soc-cer, long a minor sport in North America, makes its big time debut in Canada next month and promoter Joe Slyo-movics is convinced the pro-fessional game will succeed here where baseball failed.

Slyomovics owns the Mont-real Concordia Soccer Club which will operate in both sections of the 14-nation Inter-national Soccer League this myself if I said we have a change of winning either section in the International League this year," he said in an interview. "But I'm 100 per cent certain that within three or four years we'll be able to compete with any country in the world."

The Contextile team will

The Concordia team will play 18 ISL games at Montreal's Molson Stadium this year plus one cup game. They also play two more in New York's Polo Grounds. In addition to the ISL competition, Concordia will play a full schedule of 24 games in the Canadian Interprovincial League, beginning April 29 in Toronto.

"We plan to have two full teams which will be interchangeable," he added.

Slyomovics and his lieutenants have embarked on an ambitious world-wide recruiting trip. Included in the roster of 25 how, in training at nearby MacDonald College are four Argentinians, a Scot, an Intalian, an Englishman, a Yugoslav and six Brazilians.

Yugoslav and six Brazilians.

"We have to have a better team than last year, but just how good we won't know for a couple of months," he said,
"It's going to take at least that long for all these boys to get used to each other and start playing like a team."
So many different nationalities might present a problem, but not with Concordia. Slyomovics speaks "seven or eight languages"; his general manager and technical adviser Aldo Cecchi, a transplanted Italian, speaks just about as many; team manager Bill Hevesy is fluent in Hungarian. German, Czech, Yugoslav and English; and coach Skender Perolli, an Armenian, speaks all the above plus Spanish and Italian Italian.

"There's nothing like sports, and soccer in particular, to promote good will, said Slyo-movics. "I firmly believe that the international teams that will spread more good pub-licity about Canada than the government could buy."

Slyomovics, a one-time occer player in his native zechoslovakia, is convinced that it's just a matter of time before soccer assumes big-time before soccer assumes big-time popularity.

"Baseball is dead in Mont-pascoan is dead in moni-real and they're just heating a dead horse by giving it so much publicity in the papers," he said, "I believe we can average between 10,000 and 12,000 to our International League games, and if we do, we'll do a little better than break even this season. "We have a budget of $457,000."

Hockey is generally accepted as Canada's national sport and Slyomovics figures this should help promote soccer.

"Almost all soccer fans like hockey. After all, it's almost the same game played on ice.

the same game played on ice. Not all hockey fans are soccer fans but if they see a couple of games I'm sure they'll be sold on the sport," he said.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK-Often, piqued by Leo Durocher's flair for getting publicity, I have heard his enemies denounce him as getting publicity. I have heard his enemies denounce him as an egotistical schemer who considered himself too big for baseball. I have neglected to report such slanders because I considered them falsehoods inspired by envy. But, after Durocher's recent kicking contest with Jocko Conlan, the umpire, I must grant these rebukes further scrutiny.

Obviously, Leo the Foot believes that baseball does not a content of the propuls score for his multiple gifts. It could be give him enough scope for his multiple gifts. It could be that, regarding himself as a creative force in the game, Leo the Foot decided to introduce Savate into the sport at which he became famous. The scuffle between Durocher and Con-lan obediently followed the regulations which govern Savate and prohibits the use of the hands.

Being of French ancestry, it seems natural that Duro-cher play under Paris regulations. It could also be a tribute to Juliette Prowse, a dancing actress, to whom Durocher has been known to bid helio to in public, especially in the presence of Hollywood gossip columnists.

But knowing Durocker, I doubt if he would spend his time in the company of a young lady kicking shins.
Umpires, including his last opponent, consider The Foot a linguist. He speaks English and a fluent profanity. But I never heard him utter a word of French except Bordagaray, who was an outfielder on the old Dodgers.

Often described as a furtrated actor, it is quite possible
The Foot has developed an international attitude which is very fashionable in Hollywood. He is one of the few residents of Beverly Hills who spend their winters at home as most movies now are made abroad. While William Holden and Ava Gardner travel to far places to work. The Foot may be found at The Friar's Club.

The only other permanent citizen of Beverly Hills is the doorman at Chasen's. But any guy who parks so many foreign cars must be regarded as an internationalist.

It has already been suggested by some that The Foot

If has already been suggested by some that the Foot may have been giving an audition to prove his versatility as a performer. The careers of many promising actors are restricted to type-casting. Only last week on the Dinah Shore Show, The Foot*played himself. This is a role that even Lon Chaney in his prime would have found difficult. But the artist must be depressed by the monotony of playing one man.

Giles Didn't Figure It a Mismatch

It would seem that a character actor of The Foot's age and ability would have a better chance to get work if he convinced producers he is able to impersonate feroclous coolies and Apaches of Paris. There aren't many parts for third-base coaches.

It is too late for him to be walking into the sunset with the leading lady although, away from screen and ball field, he rehearses this part continuously. But right now the only chance he has of getting a lead is if "Life With Father" is

I wonder how Conlan allowed himself to be angled into a Savate bout with a Frenchman. But Warren Giles, president of the National League, clearly indicated he didn't esti-mate it to be a mismatch because he only suspended The Foot for three days. Only in baseball is spitting in public appraised as a more serious crime than assault. In 1939, Billy Jurges, the Giant shortstop, and George Magerkurth, the umpire, were fined $150 apiece and laid off for 10 days for using each other's kissers as cuspidors.

It may be that Jocko welcomed the kicking bit to show that he goes along with the times. He proved that he, like Elvis Presley, uses other parts of his body as well as vocal cords during a performance.

I know that Jocko abhors French customs. Couple of years ago, I received a letter from him beseeching me to discourage Ed Sullivan from embracing male guests on his show. It was Jocko's theory that only French generals were entitled to hug men.

It was his notion that an Irishman demeaned himself by imitating the habits of the French. It is a strange request when you realize that Jocko was one of the participants who performed Savate before the largest audience ever to see it in this country.

It has been long The Foot's boast that he jammed his fists into his hip pockets when arguing with umpires so they couldn't accuse him of manhandling them. All across his baseball career, Durocher has gotten into trouble for putting his feet into his mouth. After this, he better figure out a way to get them into his pockets while debating with out a way to get them into his pockets while debating with the magistrates.

That shouldn't be too difficult. Isn't that what Jose Ferrer did when he played Toulouse Lautrec? After all, The Foot is a member of the Actors' Guild.

Dr. George Bigelow's operating method shunted Laurie Kerr to the sidelines in The Times Island Open, but Sun-day's semifinal defeat wasn't a complete loss for the Royal Colwood golfer.

It wasn't much of a consolation reward, but Laurie struck it rich on one of the greens. Seems a foursome that preceded Kerr and Dr. Bigelow around the Gorge Vale course had forgotten to pick up their markers.

Kerr, moving on the green to clean off his ball before putting, noticed a nickel on the putting surface. Moments later he picked up a dime. Must of been some rich tourists! We know the Gorge boys too well to ac-

JFK STUDIES MEANS

How Can U.S. Break Castro?

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Kennedy administration is reported to be considering possible use of military force against Cuba's Castro regime if other means fail to end the island's pro-Communist rule.

SARDAR SINGH

Other plans being studied include the application of political and economic sanctions. against Cuba through joint action with Latin American

Some officials believe that as the situation develops following the unsuccessful rebel invasion of Cuba last week, other Latin American governments might ultimately be willing to participate even in military operations against Castro. The United States is trying to convince them through diplomatic consultation that Cuba as a Communist base is a threat to the entire Western Hemisphere.

None of the possible lines of anti-Castro actions under con-sideration are near firm decisideration are hear rim deci-sion. They include:

Naval blockade in Ken-nedy's view this would be an act of war and probably not an effective move since a blockade is aimed at strangl-ing a country slowly.

CONSIDER DISADVANTAGE Sardar Battan Singh, a leading member of Victoria's Sikh community, died here Monday. He was 77 years old.

Born in Dhute Kalan, East Punjah, Iridia, he came to Victoria in 1913 and played an active part in the religious and political activities of the East Indian community.

In 1939 he was a member of a delegation which went to Ottawa to get full rights for East Indians living in Canada.

At the same time and at his own expense, he was successful in obtaining legal recognition for about 300 East Indians who entered Canada illegally.

A fuel merchant until his retirement in 1955, he was a strong supporter of the Sikh church.

He is survived by two sons: Mahinder Singh and Narzan Singh, eight grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Nutrament

for everyone who skips or skimps on meals

The Nutrament meal is ready to drink-gives you all the nourishment you might otherwise miss.

One tin of Nutrament gives you nourishment similar to a light meal. It satisfies your appetite. And tastes delicious any time of day.

Nutrament answers some of the problems that arise from the rapid kind of life we lead. Like most of us, you probably skip a meal sometimes cause you're busy. Or you skimp, downing a "quick bite" that may be lacking in nourishment.

Now, however, you can drink a Nutrament meals and be as well nourished as though you had sat down to a light lunch. Or breakfast. Or dinner. When do you drink Nutrament?

Whenever activity has made you skip or skimp on a meal. Or when you need a supplement to a meal that may be lacking in proper nutrition. You can drink Nutrament between meals or as a Bedtime snack . . . anytime.

What makes Nutrament so nourishing? Nutrament has been developed by the makers of PABLUM, specialists in quality products through nutritional research. Each tin of Nutrament supplies you with 400 calories. It is formulated to give you nutrients in proportions generally accepted as desirable: 20 grams of good quality protein, 50 grams of carbohydrate, 13.3 grams of fat and all the vitamins and minerals known to be essential for good nutrition.

Who can use Nutrament? Anybody who can eat the food a normal, healthy person does. Because it's so pleasant and easy to drink, you may give it to your children as a supplementary food and even to older people who may be lacking in appetite at mealtime.

This nourishing light meal costs 45 cents*
Hot or cold, chocolate or vanilla Nutrament is a complete light meal in a glass, enjoyable to people of any age. It is not a "discipline food" or dietary—and doesn't taste like one. Meal-skippers and meal-skimpers, rejoice— Nutrament is here! In your nearby store now!

A New Jersey woman—3,000 miles from Victoria— has threatened to do all her spending in Vancouver if the capital city abolishes its cluster lights.

The "ultimatum" was received today by Acting Mayor Millard Mooney.

On the other side of the argument the V.I. chapter of the Illuminating Engineering Society has written to the city condemning the clusters for falling to come up to modern lighting standards.

Simple Hair Aids Restore Color to 'Crowning Glory' By PENNY SAVER

If your hair looks mousy or there are streaks of grey be ginning to show, you're going to want a new product that made its debut recently in Victoria. It's not a tint, nor a dye, yet will cover grey hair easily. You simply shampoo it on from the applicator bottle.

Many women who always have hesitated to rake any great change of hair color are blessing this new line because it will restore hair to original shade. For $1.95 there's a kit that contains a three-ounce bottle of lotion, a plastic cap and cream rinse.

When lotion is applied, cover hair with cap and leave for 35 to 45 minutes. Color will last through shampoo after shampoo. For best results it should be used every three or four weeks. There are 10 shades ranging from light ash brown to black.

Should you get tired of color it's easily removed if you use hair conditioner that sells at $2.75 for an eight-ounce bottle. Mixed with equal parts of peroxide it should be used to saturate hair. Leave for 20 minutes, rinse thoroughly,

Even men are beginning to become color-conscious, as far as hair is concerned. Wife of owner of drug store I was in this week tells me that they get just as many men customers buying color combs as they do women. These sell at $2.50 and have container of dark brown, medium brown or black coloring built in. All that's necessary is to wet comb and pass through the hair you wish to shade.

Combs are excellent for use on bleached or sun-streaked hair, will cover grey and color new growth of dyed hair.

What is Heavy Water?

Someday soon, heavy water kind of hydrogen called an iso will be helping to make our tope. In every few thousand atoms of ordinary hydrogen atoms of ordinary hydrogen there is one overweight hydrogen atom. This heavy hydrogen is called deuterium.

13. This helps make life sweeter (5) 14. Vapour met as a form of the atomic pile. It controls the output of energy and leads off heat. In biology, heavy water is used to trace the steps, which turn food into energy and living cells. Though it is all around us in small scattered amounts, the chemists did not discover it until 1932.

It is called heavy water because it is about 10 per cent heavier than ordinary water, because it is about 10 per cent heavier than ordinary water, and the meaning of its chemical name. We can learn more about it when we understand the meaning of its chemical name. The chemist calls it deuterium oxide. Sometimes he calls ordinary water hydrogen has one or more pen oxide. The two words in each chemical name tell us that water and heavy water are both compounds.

a Compounds are made of assorted atoms. The word oxide tells us that the oxygen atom is part of both the compounds — water and heavy water. A particle of hydrogen oxide, ordinary water, has one atom of oxygen and two of hydrogen. Oxygen, of course, is the life giving gas we breathe. Hydrogen, foo, is a gas and the hydrogen and two of hydrogen from ordinary hydrogen, Since hydrogen oxide is a compound of hydrogen and result is deuterium atom.

Each atom of deuterium weighs about twice as much as an atom of ordinary hydrogen. The extra weight neath of eduterium atom.

Each atom of ordinary hydrogen is called deuterium.

Each atom of ordinary hydrogen. The extra weight hydrogen as an atom of ordinary hydrogen is called deuterium.

Each atom of ordinary hydrogen. The extra weight comes from an extra particle in the deuterium atom.

Every atom of course, is made mostly of tiny particle of electricity. The protons are electrically neutral. The protons are electrically neutral. The protons are electrons are electrons are electrons are electro since hydrogen oxide is a gen, but it is no easy job. The compound of hydrogen and oxygen, the deuterium oxide deuterium is used to make terium and oxygen. And so it is. But what is deuterium? It too is hydrogen, a special and two of deuterium.

Actually that's rather silly. He wasn't only my pal but everyone's pal in those days. Who could ever forget his zany antics with brothers Groucho, Chico and Zeppo in such rousers as "Animal Crackers," "The Cocoanuts," "A Night at the Opera?" And when he played his harp for Sullivan's audience I wordered how one man could possess so many talents, have been so very popular and now so little on view. ROME (AP) — An Italian archaelogist has found a burial ground he believes contains the remains of Romans slain by Hannibal in the Battle of Lake Trasimeno almost 23 centuries ago. Prof. Giancarbo Susini says with the aid of an aerial survey he located the burial ground not far from the scene of the battle in which Hannibal's. Carthaginians ambushed a Roman army of 25,000 led by Flaminius Jue 25,200 led by Flaminius Jue 24, 217 BC. The invaders from Carthage killed 16,000 Romans.

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's impressive victory over army mutineers in Algeria has solidly improved his chances for negotiating peace with the Moslem antionalist rebels.

The quick and effective suppression of the four-day revolted by a quartet of retired generals has left no doubt of the 70-year-old president's control of the army and his position of leadership in France and Algeria.

This new proof of his ability to dominate the bitter opposition of rightists in France and Algeria sheuld prove a help in bringing peace with the rebel nationalists.

Baptiste River, 40 miles northwest of here.

Mr. Strawberry, in failing health for a year; died Sunday at his one-room house on the Sunchild Reserve.

Born in the Qu'Appelle Valley, north of Regina, in 1850, he came to this district 100 miles southwest of Edmonton in 1855 and had been a resident of the reserve from that time.

Mr. Strawberry, a Cree descents on of the oldest persons in Canada, was the last surviving Indian to have traded furs at the Hudson's Bay Company post here. The post was abandoned in 1875.

He made his last visit here from the reserve in June, 1959,

VANCOUVER — British Columbia trade unions Tuesday officially decided to test the validity of an amendment to the provincial Labor Relations. Act that prohibits political contributions from union checkoff dues.

The stand was approved at a closed day-long conference here called by the B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC) to discuss the implications of the last session of the B.C. legislature.

The amendment requires union officials to sign a statutory declaration that no dues collected by checkoffs would be contributed to a political party.

It has been suggested that a small union should refuse to sign the declaration, know in the declaration has been declaration, know in the text the act's validity in curt.

EMBATTLED MAYOR MABEL DOWN BUT NOT OUT

Are Squatter's Rights Enough?

ALBERNI (CP) — By any top with her gavel and kicked rules of combat, Mayor Mabel. Anderson should sue for peace. A petition signed by more voters than put her into office has called for her resignation on grounds of incompetence. Aldermanic candidates she supported in the last civic election were beaten to the last ran.

Aldermen and city staff took to going to Jack Luck thook to going to Jack Luck thorst's place after council mayor issued a statement as suring councillors that none of her statements were meant to reflect on their personal integrity.

The dispute ended when the mayor issued a statement as suring councillors that none of her statements were meant to reflect on their personal integrity.

rights to the gavet since council decided to bypass her by voting her out of the chair.

And aldermen put her out of business for three weeks when they voted to suspend council business pending clarification of her threat to call a public inquiry into city affairs.

It all began in December, 1959, when voters here elected Mrs. Anderson as their first woman mayor.

The running battle of the sexes has continued weekly since then.

Mabel's a curler—skip, of course.

As Joan of Arc riding to save Alberni, Mabel Anderson chose the unlikely mount of civic sewage. She was against sewers, in favor of septic tanks. So was a fractional majority of the voters.

Out went Mayor Jack Luckhurst, a motel operator and harbor commissioner. In went Mabel.

"I still can't understand it," says Mr. Luckhurst. "After the polls it was my party everyone came to."

The fireworks started early. Anderson spectators out of the chamber, refusing to sign minutes of previous meetings, declaring meetings out of order and stalking from the hall, demanding yesor no answers fromeeity hall staff and shattering glass.

$1.6 MILLION CONTRACT WON BY NANAIMO FIRM

Nanaimo firm of S. Madill and Sons Ltd. will be given a $1,600,000 contract for construction of 21 portable steel logging spars and undercarriages, it was announced Tuesday by J. V. Clyne in his annual report as chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

The firm specializes in this type of equipment, which replaces the conventional spar tree. Chief advantage of the steel spars is that they can be moved from setting to setting and be in production in a matter of hours.

The firm soon will take over a log-carrying barge being built at Yarrows Ltd. in Esqu'malt at a cost of $800.000.

Bank of Canada held out little hope today of Canada making a serious dent in its unemployment problem in the coming year.

Appearing before the special Senate manpower committee, Mr. Coyne advocated government incentives for business—specially Canadian own need business—to expand production and employment.

He also suggested a greater channelling of public capital into various sectors of private enterprise "to keep private enterprise "to keep private enterprise Canadian and allow it to expand under Canadian ownership and control."

Looking ahead, he said all indications are that economic conditions will improve somewhat in the next year—but no short production absorb the increase in the labor force.

Pool Plan Talks Set For May 3 A new B.C. government program of matching grants for tourist publicity was hailed today as the stimulus which, at least, can unite Vancouver Island for a single drive to boost the industry. A meeting May 3 of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities at Nanaimo will decide how to pool tourist promotion and set up a committee to co-ordinate the planning.

EIGHT REGIONS Recreation Minister Earle Westwood announced in Courtenay Tuesday the government will match approved promo-tion costs in eight regions of B.C., one of which is all Vancouver Island.

He will attend the meeting to outline further details of the government offer, for which $50,000 was set aside in this year's budget.

Municipal and tourist offi-cials said the offer means at last Island areas will be able to get together to boost tourism after years of haggling.

The grants will go toward advertising the Island's attrac-tions in the rest of Canada and the U.S.
